Highgrove Day May 11, 2013 Highgrove goes Hawaiian!

Win a $2,000.00 trip for only $1.00

May 11, 2013

This year at Highgrove Day on May 11, 2013 we will draw the winning ticket for a $2,000.00 travel voucher that can be used to go to Hawaii or any other place you may want to go.

The winner will be notified by phone because the winner does not have to be present to win. The winning ticket does not have an expiration date and can be transferred to another person if they can not use the voucher.

Each ticket costs $1.00 and you can purchase as many as you want. They come in books of 25 tickets so you can buy some for yourself, sell some to your friends, and turn in the money or unsold tickets to the Highgrove Day committee.

Our goal is to make $1,000.00 to offset costs for Highgrove Day that includes free admission for spectators to the car show and free entertainment such as two performances by the Thealani Polynesian dancers and drummers, the Woof Gang Dogs, General Yo, who will amaze you with their trick yo yo demonstration, and The Riverside County Sheriff Dept. K-9 unit demonstration. The day starts off at 7:00 am with a pancake breakfast at the Norton Younglove Community Center at 7:00 am located at 459 Center St. in Highgrove (see P. 2 for prices). While you are eating your pancakes at the community center on Center St. the classic cars and hot rods will be entering the Highgrove Community Park from the north end at Main St. for the Highgrove Day Car Show.

There is no charge for spectators for the car show or for the other entertainment. This year is a Hawaiian theme so get your Hawaiian shirts and dresses out of the closet and wear them to Highgrove Day.

Thealani's will perform under the main canopy at 11:00 am and again at 1:00 pm. Also included in the free entertainment, and back by Cont. P. 6

HIGHGROVE HAPPENINGS

MAC meetings will be monthly!

The Highgrove community meetings known as the Municipal Advisory Council will meet each month except December. The meetings will be on the 4th Wednesday at 7:00 pm at the Highgrove Library located at 530 Center Street in Highgrove. The public is invited.

Due to financial constraints, representatives from Supervisor Tavaglione's office will come to every other meeting starting on March 27, 2013 but our MAC meetings will be monthly at the library on the 4th Wednesday of the month. You are encouraged to attend and invite a neighbor to come with you.

Highgrove Day May 11, 2013

Last year was a western theme called "Highgrove Hoedown" and the previous year it was a military theme with the 40 piece Riverside Concert Band playing patriotic music as three T-34 airplanes from March Air Reserve Base made several passes with smoke trailing behind.

But this year Highgrove goes Hawaiian! There will be Hawaiian music and dancers and if you have a Hawaiian shirt in the back of the closet it would be a good time to get it out, dust it off, and wear it to this year's Highgrove Day. Mark your calendar for the 128th community birthday celebration of Highgrove that is known as "Highgrove Day". As in the past, the pancake breakfast will be held at the Norton Younglove Community Center on Center Street and the car show and entertainment will be in the adjacent 5 acre Highgrove Community Park. Vendor applications and applications for the car show are available on-line by visiting our web site:

www.highgrovehappenings.net. Vendors can also call Dena Guyer at (310) 569 9695 and Car Show applicants can call "Barney" at (951) 683 4994.

Dear Residents of Highgrove:

On behalf of everyone here at the library, we would like to thank everyone who participated in our community electronic waste collection event. We hope that our event will inspire everyone to be more conscious of their electronics, especially at the rate in which new technology advances. With your help, we can send the message of recycling old electronics responsibly and end the hazardous routine of e-waste polluting several landfills overseas.

Thanks to the residents of Highgrove and your generous support, you helped save 9,736 pounds of electronic waste from entering landfills here and abroad. Some of your electronics will be repaired and reused, and some will be dismantled for their components, which are then recycled. Great job, Highgrove! Here are the statistics of what we collected at our e-waste event:

Computers -----1,112 lbs.

CRT TVs & Monitors ----- 5,821 lbs.

Laptops -----77 lbs.

LCD Monitors ----- 224 lbs.

Cell Phones -----11 lbs.

Other ----- 2,491 lbs.

Because of all your efforts, All Green Electronics Recycling would also like to thank you for all of your support at such a great event. Thank you to everyone who helped out with our event and donated their used electronics! Our next e-waste recycling event will be on August 31st, 2013!

DEVILS DEN

by Dennis Wilds

Booger walked over to the cupboard and retrieved his old 45 caliber pistol and a box of shells.

Checking the cylinder to make sure it was loaded; Booger put another ten shells in his pocket and placed the gun in his right front pocket with the butt handle showing only slightly. He then grabbed the empty crockery jug and headed out the front door of the cabin and walked up the path that led away from the farm into a stand of cotton woods on the edge of a small quarter acre pond. Natural ponds were common on the farms of southeastern Oklahoma and some of the larger ones were stocked with catfish, but Booger's pond was fouled with an oily film from ground seepage. Nothing grew in the toxic water which booger sourced for his still which sat about fifty feet from the pond among the cottonwoods. Arriving at his whisky still, Booger fired up the still and soon had the mash boiling and dripping into the crock he placed under the copper condensation line. Carefully sitting down next to the crock, Booger leaned back against one of the cotton wood trunks and began to work out his plan. The first Zundappers to go had to be those two he tangled with in Valiant. It was late afternoon and he figured they were both still in town so that was where he would head as soon as he quenched his thirst. As Booger lay there he dozed off while the drips of methanol, ethanol, and toxic hydrocarbon distillates dripped into the jug.

A peal of thunder and light rain woke Booger up after about forty five minutes and Booger noticed that the fire under the still had died down to the point that no more drips were coming out of the copper line. Grabbing the jug and swirling it, Booger figured he had a good pint of whisky so he checked for the gun and shells in his pocket and took the jug and headed back to Valiant. The low clouds had a green cast to them and the foreboding weather matched Booger's own sullen mood.

The maelstrom dropped from the heavens of the Midwest at 5:45 PM, July 4th, 1941 over Paris, Texas. That was the time frozen on the face of the grandfather clock found wedged in the forks of a twisted and broken ancient oak tree in the Paris town square when the storms had passed. Valliant's weather event of the century began a month before with African heat swirling the waters of the tropical Atlantic creating an atmospheric depression which churned inexorably across the ocean toward the Caribbean Sea. Within three weeks, the warm waters of the Gulf of Mexico welcomed the churning tropical storm, turning it into a full blown unnamed hurricane which laid waste to Cuba and Puerto Rico before heading to the Yucatan Peninsula. Four thousand miles north in Western Canada, a frigid blanket of dense, dry air draped across the Pacific Northwest and then sagged across the Midwest on its collision course with the dying hurricane. The two massive weather systems joined in an atmospheric ionic battle which raged seven miles up in the summer sky and slowly exploded downward with blasts of wind, cold rain, hail and billion-volt electrical storms. Those with storm cellars headed down into the darkness and peeked out from the doors looking for cyclones, which is what they called tornadoes in those parts. The old folks watched with fear while the uninitiated young looked on with excitement. Livestock were left out on their own. Valliant just kept one eye peeled to the southwest and the lightning in the distance, too far away to hear its thunder yet.

Osteoporosis Awareness

Craig 'Deuce' Doussett BS Nutrition & Food Science, Assistant Director of Education Clark's Nutrition

What do flutes, cheeses, and space all have in common? They have holes in them. For without these holes, beautiful music, tasty sandwich fixings and time travel would not be possible. The time travel angle might be stretching it but you get the picture. So what objects do not benefit from holes? Life rafts, alibis, and more importantly, our bones! Our bones are the framework holding up our bodies and need constant replenishing from calcium, other minerals, protein, and fluids. Over time, it is common for our bones to become less dense wherein small holes appear and create problems as we age. What are the problems with porous bones and who is at risk? How do we go about preventing these issues and what other functions do our bones perform that makes it so vital that we maintain them?

Who is at risk?

- Individuals with small skeletal structures, this unfortunately means a majority of women
 - Smokers and alcoholics
 - Soda drinkers- this may be due to the high phosphorous content and caffeine, known to block calcium absorption, or simply because soda is replacing milk and fortified orange juice as the beverage of choice
 - Individuals that are not physically active
 - Everyone after a certain age as hormones decline
- What problems does osteoporosis present?
- Increased risk of fractures and breaks, especially hip fractures which can also lead to pressure sores and blood clots

- Pain when exercising and performing activities of a physical nature
- Weakened muscles
- Decreased quality of life

Osteoporosis is sometimes called a pediatric disease with geriatric consequences. It is true there are important activities we can do to strengthen our bones at an early age so they carry us through life but there is much that can be done at any time to support our bones and slow down and even reverse the advance of osteoporosis. The recommendations for both kids and adults are not surprisingly very similar;

- Get plenty of exercise. Playing like a kid is a great way to send signals to the bones to keep them strong. It's not too late to run around with a cape on, jump off curbs or play red light/green light.
- If the above is not to your liking, try taking an aerobics class, training with weights or signing up for a yoga class or a walking group
- Take in plenty of calcium. Low-fat and fat-free dairy, Calcium fortified juices and grains, soy products and leafy green vegetables. Don't forget dried spices like Thyme, Oregano, and Basil (up to 100 milligrams of calcium per three tablespoons)
- Take a calcium supplement as recommended.
- Drink plenty of fluids, water first.

Our skeletons not only keep us upright, they protect vital organs, link body systems to each other and produce our oxygen carrying red blood cells and the majority of our immune cells. Major fractures later in life can cause immune system compromise and leave us susceptible to opportunistic infections. Keep your skeleton young and your body will follow suit, it is never too late to give our bodies the gift of caring for our bones.

4 arrested in Highgrove Burglary

The Riverside County Sheriff Dept. set up a command post on the N/W corner Center St. and Iowa Avenue.

The Highgrove Trailer Court was blocked off as deputies searched the area.

On April 8, 2013, at 2:14 A.M., deputies assigned to the Riverside County Sheriff's Jurupa Valley Station responded to a burglary-in-progress. The burglary was reported at a storage facility in the 300 block of Iowa Avenue in the unincorporated area of Riverside County, known as Highgrove. The reporting party witnessed four suspects cutting the locks off of several storage units. The reporting party also indicated one of the suspects was holding a long rifle.

Deputies immediately arrived on scene and set up a perimeter. Two suspects were quickly apprehended without incident. A third suspect, who was later identified as Jeffrey Taylor (22 years old of San Bernardino), fled on foot.

During the foot pursuit, an officer involved shooting occurred near Iowa Avenue and Center Street. The suspect once again fled on foot, evading apprehension by the deputies on scene. Deputies continued to search the area, with the aid of a Sheriff's K-9.

Thompson was later located hiding underneath a vehicle by Sheriff's K-9, and taken into custody. Prior to booking, Thompson was transported to a nearby hospital where he was treated for minor injuries. The fourth suspect was later found hiding at the storage facility by the Sheriff's K-9.

The additional suspects were later identified as Troy Sanders (22 years old of San Bernardino), Ryan Haynie (26 years old of San Bernardino), and an adult female who has not yet been positively identified.

Jurupa Valley Station investigators along with investigators from the Riverside County Sheriff's Central Homicide Unit responded to the scene and assumed the investigation.

Per department policy the officer was placed on paid administrative leave pending outcome of the investigation. No deputies were injured.

This is an active ongoing investigation. Anyone having information regarding this incident is encouraged to contact Investigator Campos of the Riverside Sheriff's Central Homicide Unit at 951-955-2777 or Investigator Pabelico of the Jurupa Valley Station at 951-955-2600.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

Should You Take a Pension Buyout?

Have you recently received a pension buyout offer? If so, you need to decide if you should take the buyout, which could provide you with a potentially large lump sum, or continue accepting your regular pension payments for the rest of your life. It's a big decision.

Clearly, there's no "one size fits all" answer — your choice needs to be based on your individual circumstances. So, as you weigh your options, you'll need to consider a variety of key issues, including the following:

- Estate considerations — Your pension payments generally end when you and/or your spouse dies, which means your children will get none of the money. But if you were to roll the lump sum into an Individual Retirement Account (IRA), and you don't exhaust it in your lifetime, you could still have something to leave to your family members.

- Taxes — If you take the lump sum and roll the funds into your IRA, you control how much you'll be taxed and when, based on the amounts you choose to withdraw and the date you begin taking withdrawals. (Keep in mind, though, that you must start taking a designated minimum amount of withdrawals from a traditional IRA when you reach age 70½. Withdrawals taken before age 59½ are subject to taxes and penalties.) But if you take a pension, you may have less control over your income taxes, which will be based on your monthly payments.

- Inflation — You could easily spend two or three decades in retirement — and during that time, inflation can really add up. To cite just one example, the average cost of a new car was $7,983 in 1982; 30 years later, that figure is $30,748, according to TrueCar.com. If your pension checks aren't indexed for inflation, they will lose purchasing power over time. If you rolled over your lump sum into an IRA, however, you could put the money into investments offering growth potential, keeping in mind, of course, that there are no guarantees.

- Cash flow — If you're already receiving a monthly pension, and you're spending every dollar you receive just to meet your living expenses, you may be better off by keeping your pension payments intact. If you took the lump sum and converted it into an IRA, you can withdraw whatever amount you want (as long as you meet the required minimum distributions), but you'll have to avoid withdrawing so much that you'll eventually run out of money.

- Confidence in future pension payments — From time to time, companies are forced to reduce their pension obligations due to unforeseen circumstances. You may want to take this into account as you decide whether to continue taking your monthly pension payments, but it's an issue over which you have no control. On the other hand, once your lump sum is in an IRA, you have control over both the quality and diversification of your investment dollars. However, the trade-off is that investing is subject to various risks, including loss of principal.

Before selecting either the lump sum or the monthly pension payments, weigh all the factors carefully to make sure your decision fits into your overall financial strategy. With a choice of this importance, you will probably want to consult with your financial and tax advisors. Ultimately, you may find that this type of offer presents you with a great opportunity — so take the time to consider your options.

HIGHGROVE HAPPENINGS

California Dreaming by Dr. Cynthia Williams

Being a transplanted native Californian I am suffering from shock just like my plants. I miss Highgrove and all my family and friends! I moved to central Oregon a little over two years ago and it is nothing like Highgrove. I knew the change would be dramatic- this little city has about 80,000 people, hundreds, if not thousands, of wild deer, and more dogs per capita than any place I've ever been. It is another planet compared to California. Let me share with you my journey.

The calendar says it's Spring; I don't believe it as it was 25 degrees this morning. The deer have come back into town with their toddlers from last year. They are a bit thin from their long winter and they spend most of their time nibbling on the buds of the bushes and the fresh grass shoots. I share carrots and apples with them. A few have been in our neighborhood for many years and are accustomed to us. Some are tame enough to walk up and eat out of my hand. It's a breath-taking experience. I never get tired of seeing them in the yard.

With the weather beginning to warm up the Canadian geese have come back. There are hundreds around town; by the river, on the greening lawns, flying overhead. They are big honkers too! They fly overhead squawking and honking, swoop down and land in parking lots, blocking driveways, and doing what birds do, fly, honk, eat and the rest... They can really leave quite a mess on the walkways!

The garden shops have the little pots of herbs, vegetables, and annuals. I saw them, got all giddy, and bought a few. Which was a wildly optimistic thing to do as it is too cold to set them out. A lot of people have greenhouses and cold frames, however not all people use their greenhouses for growing vegetables. Some use them to grow "medical marijuana" which is a legal activity here in Oregon. When I took my Master Gardener training years ago I didn't learn anything about growing marijuana so I stick with what I know.

I haven't forgotten how hot it gets down there. By the first of June I would be getting ready to put my garden away for the hellishly hot summer, have the pool cover off and filling the propane tank for the BBQ. I would use my summers to get some hard-scape taken care of, plan what I was going to plant in the fall, and hope my grass didn't totally fry in July and August. Around here we don't plant until the first of June to avoid all risk of freezing. After two years I am still trying to wrap my mind around the weather here. The growing season is about twelve weeks long so I don't start much from seed and in my shady area I don't get much to grow either.

In Highgrove I had a large collection of lavender and rosemary with several varieties of each planted. They were large, fragrant and I used each for my home kitchen and also at the college. I haven't had much success growing either here. The rosemary and lavender are Mediterranean and my little place in the woods amongst the tall pine trees is decidedly not a Mediterranean climate!

The one thing I miss the most is my orange tree! Just the fragrance of a freshly cut orange is enough to bring tears to my eyes; the mouth watering smell makes me so homesick.

Of course I can buy orange juice in a jug but the smell of fresh oranges can't be beat. It reminds me of HOME.

Grand Terrace Landslide Condemns Residence

The San Bernardino County Fire Department and the City of Grand Terrace responded to a reported landslide at 22864 Vista Grande Way on Tuesday morning, April 23, 2013.

Authorities inspected the single family residence and discovered a large hill slide directly under the rear yard patio deck. A broken water line beneath the deck saturated the ground, causing the patio deck and hillside to collapse. There were no injuries to occupants or damages to any adjacent structures. Evacuations were not issued to any other homes.

The City Building and Safety officials declared and red-tagged the property stating it is "Unsafe to Occupy". The property owner is consulting with a Geological Soil and Structural Engineer to assess the damages and determine if the property can be restored.

HIGHGROVE HAPPENINGS

Phil's Philosophy

by Phil Turner
It's All Good!

The news is awful. Newspapers, TV, Radio, as well as online media fill us with dread each day. The 24-hour news cycle has put the bad news machine into overdrive. A daily dose of this kind of medicine makes it hard to get out of bed in the morning.

When I was in Viet Nam, I used to daydream about opening my mom's refrigerator. This was at a time when I felt I could starve to death in the chow hall. Powdered eggs, powdered milk, powdered potatoes, and all very badly cooked. We all daydreamed about being back in "the world" we called home.

Very admittedly, I'm writing this piece to myself, as well as our readers. I'm writing to say the truth is, overwhelmingly, that the news is good! As I'm writing this, the forecast is 85 degrees and clear today. In the winter here it might freeze, once. Pick up the phone and call your friends or relatives in the Midwest or New England. Ask them about their weather.

Continuing on that vein, as a golfer, the weather here allows me to play more than 320 days a year. The same can be said for most any other outdoor sport. Speaking of sports, we are an hour away from surfing or skiing. I'm a five-minute walk of a park, and within a couple of miles of several others, a short drive to three fitness clubs/sport facilities.

Here in the Inland Empire we are blessed with some of the finest medical care facilities in the world. The very famous and respected teaching and care Hospital of Loma Linda University and Hospital would head the list. We are surrounded by wonderful general care hospitals and several specialized care facilities. We have one of our nations Veterans Hospitals here. Does Mexico or any other country to our south even have a veteran's hospital?

The University of Redlands, University of California Riverside, California State University San Bernardino, California Baptist University and again Loma Linda University are among several higher learning centers in our midst.

We are a close distance to so many places of interest, Huell Howser couldn't even get to them all. Of course Disneyland and Knott's Berry Farm are less than an hour away. But there are so many more including; The Huntington Library, The Laguna Art and Sawdust Festival and Pageant of the Masters, Catalina Island, Farmer's Market, The Angels, Dodgers, Lakers and Clippers are within day trip distance.

Right here we have very close and personal events: Highgrove Day, Grand Terrace Community Day, Veteran's Car Show, other local car shows, golf tournaments and events. We have our local service clubs including the Eagles, Lions, and The American Legion.

Our area includes some of the finest Mexican restaurants in the country. We have the famous Mission Inn, and food festivals in most every city in the area.

Most important is our friends and family, who enrich our lives and our hearts and sustain and nurture the "better angel's of our nature". Our church and affiliations with benevolent organizations are the things that make our lives whole.

So when we open our refrigerator door, what do we see? Do we recall how very blessed we are and appreciate what we have, or do we listen to CNN about how awful it all is?

He was active in local gun clubs including the S.B. Pistol Club and Inland Fish & Game. His passions were his motorcycle, fishing, hunting and target shooting. Richard is survived by his son Alan (Maritza) Face of San Bernardino; sisters Maxine Carrara and ZoAnn Smerber, both of Montgomery Creek, CA, and Marquita Giesler of Atwater, CA; brothers David Face of Colton, CA and Herman Face of Sun City, CA. He was preceded in death by his parents Olyn and Collette Face. Private services were held. In lieu of flowers, the family suggests memorial contributions be made to your favorite charity. The lucky winner this month was Emerald Beltran who is 7 years old. She attends Highgrove Elementary School and her teacher is Ms. Matthews. Emerald was very happy to receive the prize and provided us with the words above for this months puzzle.

Emerald is the daughter of Maria Beltran. Good luck to the next winner.

Advertising rates

The "Highgrove Happenings" advertising rates are the lowest rates in town. If you have already trained your dog to bring in the paper (like the one on the right) you can be assured that he won't be lifting anything too heavy by bringing in our little newspaper. Some of the other larger newspapers are wasting just too many trees, especially in their Sunday edition. No one should ever ask their dog to lift something that heavy! Our little paper may not have much news in it, but we take pride in providing you with something free that you can put in the bottom of your birdcage! Give us a call (951) 683 4994 or check out our web site for the pricing and sizes of our ads or go to <http://www.highgrovehappenings.net> and click on the contact page.

Call us !

We have no reporters so we are asking for your help. You can be a reporter by just giving us a call or sending us an E-mail or a picture. Small town news is what we are all about and we want to encourage you to participate. We try to print positive things since there is so much bad news on TV and in other newspapers. Send us a story, take a picture or call us about something that is happening in Highgrove. (951) 683 4994
